COGNITIVE TESTING

In January, President Trump bragged he passed a mental ability test. He "ACED" it, "for the third straight time." He said no other President, or Vice President, would take the test. He said that anyone running for President, or Vice President, should be forced to take a "strong, meaningful, and proven Cognitive Examination." "Our great Country cannot be run by STUPID or INCOMPETENT PEOPLE!"

He said the test showed pictures of animals, and he named them easily. From what he described, the test was probably the MONTREAL COGNITIVE ASSESSMENT (MoCA).
The MoCA is one of many tests that doctors, psychiatrists, social workers and therapists use to check for dementia. It helps them decide if a person has the memory, understanding and mental skills to care for themself.

Let's be very clear. The MoCa is not a part of a normal check-up.
It is used when there is concern that a person may not be able to think clearly or make good decisions. The MoCA tells us if there may be a problem and if more tests need to be done. In a more serious case, the MoCA can help decide if someone else should be making decisions for that person.

The test is not done in a rush. It starts by asking the person to connect dots in order. Then they copy a drawing of a box, draw a clock face and name drawings of three things like a duck, boat and horse.

To test memory, the person repeats 4 words right away. Then they repeat the words again after 5 minutes. Then they are asked to repeat 5 numbers in order, then another three numbers – but backwards.

Then the tester reads a list of letters. The person taps the table whenever they hear the letter "A." They are asked to subtract 7 from 60 then subtract 7 again four more times. They repeat two sentences back to the tester, then name as many words as they can in one minute that start with the letter "B." They are asked how two things are alike, such as a banana and an orange or a hammer and a screwdriver.

Near the end, they try to remember the four words they heard earlier. They are given hints if they need them. Finally, they are asked the date, month, year, day of the week, place and city.
You "pass" with 26 out of 30 points.
Unless there are serious concerns about a person's mental health, people are never asked to take it.
Trump was proud to pass the test.

Highest Bidder Highest Taxes

I went to Monroe County and checked out a massive building they built last year. The highway building was 110 feet by 80 feet with 30 feet high walls. This building is insulated with in-floor heat, and it is set up to wash multiple plow dump trucks at the same time. This highway shop can store 6 quad axle plow trucks and 6 small trucks. The price of this building was $850,000.00. The wash, mechanics shop could be built downtown by the current shop and that would give the county 50% more shop storage area. Instead, the County Board wants to spend 35 million dollars on 300 feet by 300 feet building on Hwy 54 and tear down the Highway Shop downtown.

Twenty supervisors and nobody can check on prices. Remember the new courthouse/jail project for $75million that got rejected or a $50 million bridge across the Black River South of town. Now we have the next joke $35 million for a county shop, when we could increase the size of the downtown shop by 50 % for less then a million dollars. They are only going to waste $34 million, and our property taxes are only going up 20% or more a year, no big deal.

Then the county is going to build low-income housing high-rise apartments in the area of the highway shop that is going to be tore down, raising our taxes more. After the county seizes the property of the elderly that can't afford the higher property taxes at least they will have a place to live.

AND GOD SAYS . . .

"This cup is the new covenant in my blood, which is poured out for you." – Luke 22:20 –

The word covenant in Scripture refers to a solemn, binding agreement or relationship, most often initiated by God with humanity. It is also the word used for the binding agreement between a man and a woman when they are married. The word "contract" is never used in scripture for any agreement. It is, therefore, important for us to understand the difference between the two terms.

First, a covenant is based on trust between two parties but a contract is based on distrust. We enter into contracts because we want legal protections in case the other party does not follow through with their commitment. But a covenant is entered into willingly, believing the other party will do all that is promised and even more to keep their commitment. It is based on the depth of character of the persons entering into the covenant and their desire to fulfill the deepest needs of the other party.

Second, a covenant is based on unlimited responsibility while a contract is based on limited liability. In other words, a covenant focuses on what I am responsible for while a contract focuses on what the other party is responsible for to please me.

If I enter into a contract with a bank for a loan I am looking for the lowest interest rate, the lowest payments and the shortest time I can have the loan paid in full. I am looking out for my own interest entirely while making sure the bank fulfills their commitment to me.

Third, a covenant cannot be broken if new circumstances occur but a contract can be voided by mutual consent. That's why, in a marriage covenant, when God joins the two people together this union is never to be broken (Matthew 19:6). Additionally, a contract focuses on the terms of the agreement but a covenant focuses on one's desire to build the other up (Ephesians 4:29).

Finally, to finalize a contract, one just had to sign it. But the Bible called it "cutting a covenant" because it was finalized with a animal (blood) sacrifice. It was not to be broken. I praise God that he made a new covenant with me (through Jesus sacrifice) when I personally put my faith in Jesus, that will not be broken. I am also keenly aware that the agreement with my wife over 60 years ago was a covenant, not a contract.

Clark County Humane Society's Pet of the Week

"BART"

Bart is the CCHS Pet of the Week!

Bart came to CCHS with his 7 siblings towards the very end of December from a local farm. This lively Heeler mix is about 17 weeks old and weighs roughly 13.7# currently. Bart is a sweet puppy with a gentle soul. Bart loves to be with people, and he especially enjoys cuddling. When it comes to choosing between playing with toys or spending time with people, Bart will choose people. Bart is very handsome having a short-haired tan and white coat with warm brown eyes and awesome ears! With any puppy, training and socialization are incredibly important to the success of the pup. If you are looking for a wonderful new lifetime friend, please apply to adopt Bart today! You can submit your adoption application on our website: www.cchs-petshelter.org/applying-to-adopt.

Do you have a love for cats and dogs and have been thinking it would be nice to help out at CCHS? Well, now's your chance! Whether it's a few hours a week, one day a month, or something in between, this is your opportunity to try it out. We are very much in need of volunteers! You can learn more and sign up on our website: https://www.cchs-petshelter.org/volunteer or email April at cchsoutreach1@gmail.com. Come join our CCHS volunteer family!
