BARN OWL

HOW TO TRAIN YOUR DOCTOR

Doctors know a whole lot. They know the biology, mechanics, pumps and plumbing of humans, as well as their electrical systems and hormones. But, when it comes to explaining what they know clearly to their patients, many struggle to get it right.
It wasn't a class in medical school.

Doctors work very hard to get the grades needed to enter medical school. We struggle to understand huge amounts of information. We try to use what we know to care for our patients. We learn the skills of our specialty. We work long nights and days in training.

But sometimes, we don't learn how to teach what we know. We don't always know how to explain what we think our patients should do.

Honestly, some of us never knew how to talk to people to begin with. When I was in medical school, I wondered if we shouldn't be required to work a few months waiting tables or staffing the complaint desk at Penney's. Now that would have been an education.

When you train your doctor, remember that some don't know how to explain what they know. Keep these points in mind:

- If you have a question, don't leave until you get an answer in words you understand.
- Expect your doc to listen, not just talk.
- Keep a notebook. Write down your questions and the answers you get. Write down the plan your doctor gives you. This will help you remember what was said and show your doctor you are serious and listening.
- If you are given a medication or a treatment plan and the plan does not work – tell them. If you never return to say it failed – your doctor assumes you were cured. When they know that a plan failed, your doctor will work harder to find the right answer.
- It is not your doctor's job to keep you healthy. Your primary doctor is your health advisor, not your manager. Be the main advocate for your own health.
- Don't expect a magic cure. If your doc had one, they would give it to you right away. Doctors entered the business to cure their patients and are happy when it happens.
- Finally, if you don't get along with your doctor, you are not married to them. Find another one you like and can talk to.

Having your own doctor is both wonderful, and difficult. But you have to work with your doctor. Speak up, ask questions and let them know who is in charge.

AND GOD SAYS . . .

Th78e foreigners who reside among you will rise above you higher and higher, but you will sink lower and lower (Deuteronomy 28:43).

I was struck by this curse placed on Israel if they turned away from God in the future. My realization was, "This is literally coming true in America today."

I thought about an article I read several years ago. The title of the article was "Will Minnesota Become the First Muslim State?" The article then described the many ways Muslims have taken control in Minnesota, from work polices in grocery stores to special privileges and rights in their communities.

I also thought of the documentary I saw on the birth rate projections in the United States, maybe 20 years ago now. It projected that by, I think it said 2035, that the United States would become a Muslim Nation. It did that on the basis of the falling birth rate in America.

Now, with the great influx of foreigners, due to the open borders, the growing threat of foreign influence is much exacerbated, moving the timeline ahead for the downfall of America.

Finally, we see the election of members of the Democratic Socialists of America (DSA, i.e. Communists) being elected to powerful government positions hastening the breakdown of our nation as we move from a trust in God to centralized government to be our help.

While this curse was specifically pronounced against Israel, I believe it is proper to assume that the God, who never changes but is the same yesterday, today and forever, continues to hold to the same values and hold to the same principles as he did for Israel. This, I believe, is especially true in his dealings with America as she was founded on Judeo-Christian values and principles.

So I fear for our nation, our liberties, our freedom to worship freely as believers in Jesus Christ as our Savior and Lord. Already, the American Center for Law and Justice (ACLJ) weekly reports of increasing hostilities from government authorities to Christianity.

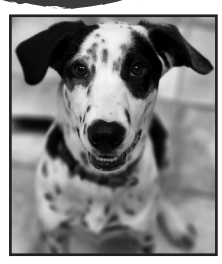

But God's desire is not to condemn us but to save us (John 3:17). He much prefers to show his love to the world rather than his wrath (John 3:16, 36). That is why I continue to believe there is hope for us, even yet, if we will once again repent and turn to God through Jesus Christ (Acts 26:20).

Clark County Humane Society's Pet of the Week

"PONGO"

Pongo is the CCHS Pet of the Week!

Pongo is a 6-month old Dalmatian/Border Collie mix. Pongo has energy, he wants to play, he wants to explore, and he's curious about pretty much everything around him. At about 41 pounds, Pongo isn't a tiny guy, but he's not huge either. He's got the softest black and white coat, an incredibly handsome face, and a fun personality to match. He would love a home that understands young dogs need patience, consistency, exercise, and a little help learning how to channel all that puppy enthusiasm. Pongo isn't a finished product yet—and he shouldn't be! He's still just a baby with a whole lot of growing and learning ahead of him. With someone willing to put in the time, we think this sweet, energetic guy has so much potential to become an incredible companion. If your house could use a little more fun, a little more chaos, and one ridiculously handsome spotted sidekick, Pongo might just be your guy. You can submit your adoption application for Pongo on our website: www.cchs-petshelter.org/applying-to-adopt.

It's time for the CCHS Photo Contest! This year we are celebrating America's 250th Anniversary! We are so excited to announce the categories of: Best Patriotic Cat, Best Patriotic Dog, Best Patriotic "other" pet, and Favorite Overall Photo. There is an entry fee of $5.00 per photo, but there is no limit to how many you can enter. There is a $50.00 prize for each category. Entries will be judged on photo content, quality, and overall theme. So get some patriotic pictures of your favorite pets and send in your best photos right away! Complete guidelines are on our website and facebook page. We can't wait to see all of the awesome entries!!
